

Press release

Cleverbee keeps on growing

Prague, 20 March 2008 - Cleverbee's turnover in 2007 was up by 93% when compared to 2006. This positive result was due to a strong demand for its services and products. Cleverbee was able to increase its revenue from sales by 325% over the last three years, which is a huge success. According to Michal Štěpánek, CEO manager, this development is due to the buoyant demand for complex, integrated IT solutions.

"There is a marked trend towards the integration of corporate processes. This trend will be supported by the expected introduction of the same legal status for both electronic and paper documents. We see great opportunities mainly in the areas of integration and digitalisation of corporate processes and storage and administration of electronic documents. We expect that demand for our products will continue rising in 2008", said Michal Štěpánek.

Cleverbee will be providing its services and offering its solutions to government authorities, banks and insurance companies, energy companies, car manufacturers and other partners.
